

2026 ISFAA Conference

Program Guide

“Stronger Together: Resilience Through Community reflects the collective strength of Indiana’s financial aid professionals as we navigate change, embrace challenges, and remain steadfast in our commitment to student success. This year’s theme highlights the vital role of community in building resilience—fostering collaboration, sharing knowledge, and supporting one another as we lead our institutions through an evolving higher education landscape. Together, we are stronger, more adaptable, and better equipped to serve our students with excellence.” Coby Shank, ISFAA President

Understanding Citizenship and Immigration Status with Financial Aid Eligibility

Presenter: Mike McClure, Vincennes University

Innovation Station

Moderator: Chester Priest, KHEAA

Many may find the financial aid process confusing, especially for refugees, immigrants, and non-US citizens. In this session, we will navigate together through some of the difficult issues with FAFSA and citizenship. Collectively, we will expand our knowledge and understanding of how the many immigration statuses affect financial aid eligibility.

Levels 2 & 3

Recognizing Priorities in Work & Life for Self-Care

Presenter: Sara Kinder, MSW, LCSW, Work + Life Coordinator, Healthy IU

Community Corner

Moderator: Sara Lambie, IU Online

In this session, participants will be actively engaged to identify and prioritize their personal and professional needs and values to determine what would benefit them most at work and/or home. Participants will be guided through a goal-setting exercise to create a concrete plan addressing at least one of their identified needs as a measure of self-care and advocacy. Additional ideas for self-care during turbulent times will also be discussed.

	Presenter: Colby Shank, ISFAA President, Ivy Tech CC	The Hub
	Moderator: Mark Riggs, Monogram
	The expansion of Pell Grant eligibility to short-term workforce programs brings new opportunities for students — and new operational questions for financial aid offices. This session will cover what you need to know to prepare for Workforce Pell, including key compliance considerations, systems readiness, and what this means for Indiana students. Whether your institution is already offering eligible short-term programs or just starting to explore them, you'll leave with a clearer sense of what's ahead and how to get ready.
Level 1	(Part 2 of 2) Stronger Together: Basics of Compliance and Supporting Students
	Presenter: Mary Nucciarone, Notre Dame	Social Speedway
	Moderator: Donnette Downing, Sallie Mae
	This is the second session of a two-session series designed to provide a refresher on the basics of verification and R2T4. As the profession changes and federal rules become more complex, gather with colleagues who are seeking high level information and a network to help to navigate complex regulations.
Level 3	Enrollment Management Essentials: A Guide for Financial Aid Professionals
	Presenter: Nathan Lohr, Purdue University	Innovation Station
	Moderator: Michael Jones, Citizens
	Curious about enrollment management and how financial aid plays a critical role? This session is designed for financial aid professionals looking to expand their knowledge and understand the key components of enrollment management. We'll explore the intersection of financial aid, admissions, and the bottom line, discussing how aid leveraging strategies can shape student enrollment decisions and impact institutional goals. Whether you're considering a career in enrollment management or just want to deepen your understanding, this session will provide practical insights into how financial aid professionals can influence and support successful enrollment outcomes.

ALL	Understanding Unaccompanied Homeless Youth Determinations and Policies	Community Corner
	Presenter: Caleb McKay, SchoolHouse Connection
	Moderator: Deb Gossman, College Avenue
	Unaccompanied homeless youth face unique barriers to higher education, yet access to financial aid and higher education is one of the strongest tools for preventing future homelessness. This session highlights FAFSA barriers, federal requirements for homeless youth determinations, recent policy guidance affecting financial aid for unaccompanied homeless youth, and strategies and best practices for supporting these students.
2:15 p.m. - 2:30 p.m.	Break -- Visit Exhibit Area	Connection Cove
2:30 p.m. - 3:15 p.m.	Break Out Sessions – Choose the one that best fits your professional level.
Levels 2 & 3	Bridging the Gap: Private Loan Strategies in a Post-PLUS Landscape
	Presenters: Sherri White, Butler University, Julia Ford, Marian University, and
	Garnet Tipton, Hanover College	The Hub
	Moderator: Alex Miller, MOHELA
	This session will examine how financial aid professionals can reframe counseling conversations, set clear expectations, and help prospective and incoming students evaluate private loan options responsibly. Topics include packaging considerations, compliance boundaries, communication strategies, and how to support students who are navigating this shift for the first time.
Level 1	A Shared Responsibility: Monitoring Adds, Drops, and Withdrawals
	Presenters: Sarah Soper, IU Indianapolis & Megan Watson, IU Indianapolis	Social Speedway
	Moderator: Matt Barr, SoFi
	This session will provide an overview of how Financial Aid monitors student enrollment changes—adds, drops, and withdrawals—to ensure compliance with Title IV regulations. Participants will learn how enrollment data is reviewed, how changes can impact aid eligibility and disbursement, and how cross-campus collaboration plays a critical role in maintaining compliance while supporting students.
ALL	Building Community with Robots: Office Tools and AI for the Financial Aid Professional
	Presenters: Amanda Fishman, Butler & Nathan Lohr, Purdue	Innovation Station
	Moderator: Will Shaffner, MOHELA
	This introductory session is designed for financial aid professionals who are new to technology, nervous about AI, or unsure where to start. Using clear language and practical examples, the session demonstrates how office tools and AI can save time, improve consistency, and support your daily work without increasing risk or complexity. No technical background required—if you’ve ever said “I am not a tech person,” you’ve come to the right place.
Level 3	10 Common Questions Schools Have About A Federal Program Review
	Presenter: Tammy Harrison, Director of Client Services, NASFAA	Community Corner
	Moderator: Caleb Fendrich, Ivy Tech CC
	The U.S. Department of Education (ED) conducts program reviews to ensure schools are complying with the requirements governing Title IV aid programs. While the possibility of significant financial fines and liabilities can make these reviews feel daunting, institutions don’t have to face them alone. By learning about the different types of reviews, what may trigger a review, and the potential financial implications, schools can prepare proactively - strengthening compliance, sharing knowledge, and supporting one another as a resilient community committed to student success.

Levels 1 & 2

Stronger Together: Strengthening Veteran Success Through Education and Community

Presenters: Lori Sprague, Ivy Tech CC & Guests

The Hub

Moderator: Nathan Lohr, Purdue University

Veteran student success is built on more than education benefits alone—it thrives through strong community and collaboration. This session explores how VA education benefits, campus partnerships, and community connections work together to create resilient support systems for Veterans. Attendees will gain insight into strategies that strengthen compliance, access, and long-term success by leveraging a “stronger together” approach.

ALL

Supporting Students: Solutions & Resources for Common FAFSA Issues

Presenters: Robert Sommers, Taylor University. & Matt Krieg, INvested

Social Speedway

Moderator: Tim Maggio, Navy Federal CU

We expect FAFSA simplification to make the process easier, yet some still encounter obstacles when completing this critical form. This session highlights solutions for common FAFSA issues that families face as well as review practical tips gleaned from application filing across the state. Join the conversation as we work together to address the FAFSA challenges that remain.

Levels 2 & 3

Internal and External Threats Facing Title IV Institutions

Presenters: Sarah Soper, IU Indianapolis & Sara Lambie, IU Online

Innovation Station

Moderator: Janet Balok, Ivy Tech CC

Admissions application fraud poses significant risks to Title IV institutions, threatening both compliance and student integrity. This session will explore internal vulnerabilities and external schemes that exploit financial aid processes, including identity theft and falsified documentation. Through shared strategies and collaborative insights, we’ll discuss how institutions can build resilience and strengthen defenses by leveraging partnerships and cross-departmental coordination. Together, we can create a united front to protect students and uphold institutional trust.

ALL

Email content: How much is too much to share?

Presenters: Amber Phillips, IU Indianapolis & Abby Clifton, IU Indianapolis

Community Corner

Moderator: Teresa Vasquez, Ivy Tech CC

Email is one of the most common—and most risky—communication tools in financial aid. This interactive session uses real-world case studies to examine “bad” emails and uncover common pitfalls related to clarity, tone, compliance, and oversharing. Participants will work in small groups to revise messages and leave with practical tips and strategies they can apply immediately.
